PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Software Engineering student at Jimma University with hands-on experience building full-stack applications using Next.js and React. Comfortable working across the stack, with a strong focus on the React environment and modern web development. Currently expanding my backend skills by learning Node.js to deepen my understanding of server-side development. Passionate about clean UIs and problem-solving. Seeking an internship where I can apply my skills, contribute to real projects, and grow professionally.
